For County Clerk.

Mr J W Hamilton is a candidate for County Clerk at next regular election, and is out to win. His experience in clerical work is highly qualified, and his splendid work for the Democratic party will be realized when the race is made up. He will be sure to attract a strong following when the drum taps.

Candidate for Jailor.

Mr James Clark has announced his candidacy for jailor, and says that he is not only a candidate but that he expects to be elected. Mr Clark has a host of friends and he is a good substantial citizen. For several years he has been a member of the Democratic committee and has rendered good service to his party in many heated campaigns.

Mr T L Wall received a telegram Wednesday telling him of the death of his sister, Mrs Handibo, of El Paso Texas. Mrs Handibo was also a niece of Mr T L Broadus, of this county. She was born in Kentucky but moved to Texas when quite young. She has frequently visited here and had many friends and relatives who will be deeply grieved to hear of her death. She leaves a husband and two little girls to mourn the loss of a kind and devoted wife and mother.

County Court.

About an average crowd attended county court Monday, and good order prevailed. In fact chief of police S D Rothwell and his night policeman S M Siler, have worked hard to enforce the law and it is said that the Blind Tigers are absolutely closed, and a man must send out of the county for liquor if he wants it. Many of our best citizens regret that Mr Rothwell has tendered his resignation, and we hope that he will reconsider the matter.

Auctioneer, Capt Am Bourne, reports the following sales: Plug horses $20 to $60; aged mules $100 to $175; a few cattle at 34 to 4 cts; sows and pigs $20 to $25.

Woods Walker, Josh Daniels and Squire Forest Stapp had their valuable Stallions on exhibition.

Will Visit Us Again.

This year, 1906, will be the period for the visitation of the 17-year locusts. They were here in 1889, 1872, 1855, and further back the editor cannot speak from personal recollection. But they may not be so thick coming year as in the past. They depend on the tender twigs of the trees for nesting places, the eggs being deposited in the soft twigs. The newly hatched grub feeds on the juice until the twig dies from its effect and falls to the ground. The larva then burrows into the ground and remains until its 17-year period of development has passed, when it comes to the surface, climbs up the side of a tree and in the natural process develops into a winged "Pharaoh," after which it repeats the process of reproduction just as its ancestors did 17 years before. But the continued cutting away of the timber narrows the breeding grounds of the insect until now the crop is not nearly so large as the previous one. This insect is one of nature's curiosities. —Winchester Democrat.

Circuit Court.

On Tuesday evening the argument in the case against W H Ward, for killing Henry Patterson, was concluded and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, after considering the matter about 20 minutes.

The grand jury adjourned Friday, returning 45 indictments, 2 for murder against negroes, one for turkey stealing, and the balance for misdemeanor, in most cases for the unlawful sale of liquor.

Civil cases were heard Friday and Saturday. In the case of Mrs Goodir, of Knox county, against Joe T Hays, for $800, the defendant got judgment. Court was not in session Monday on account of county court.

The visiting attorneys this week were Messrs McRoberts, Paxton and Judge Sauley, of Stanford; Harding Puryear and Fox, of Danville, and Col. Gauthier, of Harrodsburg. They appeared in important cases which are being heard by Judge Bell this week. Prosecuting attorneys Chas Hardin and J E Robinson have both discharged their duty faithfully in the trial of criminals, and in drawing indictments found at this term of court.

A Plea For the Farm.

There has been a deal of talk on the text, "Back to the Farm." The Courier Journal is in receipt of a copy of a letter written by Mr William Borsodi, editor of the National Adviser, on the subject and addressed to Secretary Willson whom he urges to organize a "back to the farm" movement throughout the country. It is easily demonstrable that "the young man and the young woman will find it profitable as pleasurable to stick to the farms, or to leave the crowded cities for the country, where one with small capital may more easily secure credit and a competency and can have in these days better opportunities as to the right kind of social life than that which is concomitant with limited means in the city." Besides it is quite true that "the superiority of country life in relation to the rearing of families will be recognized by all thoughtful people, and the happiness of being 'near to nature's heart' will be considered as truer and better than the pleasure which the city affords." It is a striking contrast the writer pictures in this passage.

Good Wages for Right People.

The Record office has been completely over-run with orders for job printing during the last ten days, and all hands have been working overtime. It used to be there were one or two extra bands scattered among neighboring towns, and an office could get extra help most any time, but things have changed, and first-class job printers are almost impossible to find. They get better pay, have better hours and more comfortable surroundings than any class of labor and we do not understand why more good, honorable boys don't learn the trade. Never a day passes in any office that some boy don't apply, but, as learning him the trade is harder than teaching a school, no newspaper man feels like giving his own time to a boy who will either know too much, or want to run the shop soon after he comes in. There is a growing demand for printers, we mean sober, reliable hands, and any honest, sober man can make good wages at it all the year 'round. Girls are being given the work of setting the regular reading matter, and we know some who have better positions, more satisfactory places than book-keepers, salesladies or stenographers. All work about a printing office is complicated and responsible, but anyone with a will can learn it in all its branches.

Fire in "Middleboro."

The dwelling of Jesse Miles, a well known colored man who lives in "Middleboro," caught fire Wednesday and was half burned when the hose wagon arrived and extinguished the flames. The fire originated from gasoline which was being used to clean beds. Miles' loss is severe on him.

Good Showing by Garrard Girl.

Garrard county's entry in the Courier-Journal Tour-to-Europe contest, Miss Mary Lear, shows considerable gain by this week's report, and her friends are much encouraged. Clip the ballots from your papers and mail them to her at Paint Lick. They will not only be appreciated by Miss Lear, but also by her legion of friends.

Popular Place to Stop.

The Ballard House, on Danville street, just below The Record office, is one of the most popular hotels or boarding houses Lancaster ever had. Everything is kept neat and in perfect order, the beds and rooms are clean and the table supplied with everything good the market affords. The rates are reasonable, and if you want to get the best meals and most comfortable quarters, stop at the Ballard House.

Hill.

The news of the death of Mrs Effie Hill, which occurred at her home in Richmond Sunday, will be received by friends in Lancaster with much regret. Deceased was the wife of Rev F M Hill, pastor of the Methodist church at Richmond, and a daughter of Rev W B Godbey, of Perryville. Three children survive besides a husband. The remains were brought to Perryville, where funeral services were held, followed by burial in the Perryville cemetery.

THE DEMONSTRATION

At the Grocery Store of H M Ballou Saturday.

One of the most unique and attractive social functions given in this city for some time was the reception held last Saturday at H M Ballou's well-appointed grocery store. It was an all day affair, and, but for the inclemency of the weather, the capacious apartment could not have accommodated the crowds gathered to partake of the dainty and substantial luncheon spread for the delectation of Mr Ballou's many customers. The bill of fare consisted of eatables furnished by Jas. Heekin & Co's coffee firm, the celebrated H J Heinz & Co's preserve and pickle establishment and the National Biscuit Co. The representatives sent here by these well-known firms to demonstrate the superiority of their goods were Messrs. Graves, Mathews, Barrow and Hutsell. The manner in which these gentlemen served their delicate dishes to the eager public furnished a course of refreshments fit for a feast of the gods. The H M Ballou grocery store was appropriately decked with floral adornment for the large influx of guests, strains of music issuing from a curtained alcove lent festivity to the auspicious occasion, and the savory odor of Heinz' baked beans and chow chow, the delicious flavor of Heekin's coffee and the freshness and daintiness of the National Biscuit Co's breads promised a palatable and substantial repast. The demonstration of these articles brought to their representatives larger sales than they had the Saturday before in Lexington, the capital of the Blue Grass region, and also drew for Mr Ballou the biggest trade he has had since he has been in Lancaster.
